Another Brought Gifts

If you're looking for something to add to your yearly holiday traditions or just simply something to do after so much wonderful Thanksgiving food, the Elmwood Murdock Merchants' Association encourages you to enjoy this year's Holiday Extravaganza. The theme this year is "Another Brought Gifts", a story by Bess Streeter Aldrich. Start your day with pancakes at the Fire Hall then make your way to the Backpack Craft Fair at the elementary school. Don't forget to stop by Candy Cane Lane and fill a plate (or two) with holiday goodies. Bring your kids to the library to watch a movie, then on to Burrows Tracts and Massage by Jolene for more fun kids' activities! The Aldrich House will be open to showcase their Journey into Christmas event and the Living Nativity is a wonderful way to start the holiday season.

Due to the overwhelming popularity of Santa in the Streets, Santa and Mrs. Claus will be doing it again this year! Kids, get your letters to Santa ready to deliver!

The late afternoon includes the Community Center soup supper and memorial recognition. The Elmwood Community Association has decorated the gazebo and park for the holidays and will have activities for the family to enjoy. Finish the day by participating in karaoke at the Quonset.

The complete schedule of events can be found in this newsletter and is also available at elmwoodmurdock.com. Look for coupons throughout this newsletter for entries into drawings being offered by various event sponsors. Coupons can be found on the EMMA website as well.

Happy Holidays from the Elmwood Murdock Merchants' Association!

The Elmwood Public Library

The Elmwood Public Library is a proud member of EMMA. Library Director Anne Pope said, "Our organization works hard to improve our community in one way, and we appreciate that other EMMA members work hard to improve it in others. I grew up with the saying, 'Many hands make light work,' and that's exactly what EMMA tries to do!"

The library's mission is to encourage lifelong learning and be an educational resource for the community, but books are just one part of the many goods and services that you can find available! The Elmwood Library has free Wifi, printing, faxing and scanning services, public computers, interlibrary loan services, materials for the visually impaired, access to audio books for the blind, cake pans, electrical wattage testers, book clubs, preschool story times and so much more!

An active participant in the Holiday Extravaganza for many years, this year the library will be hosting a 10am showing of, "The Polar Express," on November 26.

Parents are welcome to drop-off their kids, and they will be entertained with a movie and some light snacks. Hopefully this will give mom and dad a chance to do some shopping at the craft fair, or even run home to wrap some presents!

We hope to see you all at the library very soon!

Pulmonary rehab – education, exercise and support to help you breathe easier

Expert care is right here at Syracuse Area Health

When you can't breathe, your entire life is impacted. Everyday activities like getting the mail or even spending time with family can feel impossible. Diseases like chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), asthma, emphysema or lung damage from COVID-19 or other health issues, can make you feel isolated, even hopeless. But there is a solution to help to help you catch your breath and reclaim your quality of life.

At Syracuse Area Health, our pulmonary rehabilitation team collaborates with your medical team to personalize programs of education, exercise and support to help you understand your condition, manage the severity of your symptoms and learn techniques to help you regain lung health – and overall health.

First step: Pulmonary Function Test

The pulmonary – or lung – function test is painless, quick and helps rehab teams identify concerns and diagnose and treat lung disorders. The noninvasive evaluation shows how much air the lungs can hold and how quickly air moves in and out of the lungs. It also shows how well the lungs remove carbon dioxide from your blood.

Rehab programs customized to you

Information from pulmonary function testing helps rehab teams tailor programs to each patient's needs, abilities and goals. Personalized programs help patients improve or manage shortness of breath, regain strength and independence and return to doing everyday activities. Programs often include:

- Exercise and strength training
- Education about managing your condition
- Nutritional counseling
- Breathing techniques
- Emotional support

Sean Barry, MD, FACC

Michelle Tyser, PA-C

Who needs respiratory therapy?

Simply put, respiratory therapists help people who have trouble breathing. Through diagnosis, education and individualized treatment plans, specialists can help patients reduce the severity of symptoms, regain lung function and live fuller, more complete lives. At Syracuse Area Health, pulmonary rehab teams offer outpatient care to help with conditions including:

- Asthma
- Bronchitis
- Emphysema
- COPD
- Cystic fibrosis
- Post-COVID lung damage
- Heart or other health conditions that impact breathing

Experts who care

If you – or someone you love – have ongoing breathing issues, get the help you need. Ask your provider for a referral to pulmonary rehabilitation at Syracuse Area Health. Shannon Hoffman, MHA, RRT, is SAH's Director of Cardiopulmonary and leads our skilled teams. Hoffman provides treatments and collaborates with physicians and providers including Sean Barry, MD, FACC, and Michelle Tyser, PA-C, who specialize in pulmonary disease and sleep medicine.

Close care is right here

Talk to your provider about pulmonary rehabilitation and ask for a referral to Syracuse Area Health where it's closer for you and your family. To learn more about the program, call 402-269-7638 or visit www.syracuseareahealth.com/our-services/pulmonary-rehab/.

Elmwood's First Health and Wellness Fair

On Saturday September 24th, 2022, Elmwood's first health and wellness fair was hosted by Syracuse Area Health, E-M FBLA, and EMMA. The fair was held at the Elmwood Cultural Arts & Learning Center from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. Approximately twenty vendors from across southeast Nebraska representing various health fields hosted booths at the event. Some of these vendors included: mental health, home safety, child safety, suicide prevention, behavioral health, physical therapy, farm and tractor safety, veterans services, home health care services, and transportation services. There were free health screenings offered including blood pressure, blood sugar, lipid panel, and A1C. Shannon Josoff taught a free bootcamp fitness class at the Bess Streeter Aldrich Park followed by a free wellness walk on the Mopac trail. Local business owner, Dawn Tyrell, owner of Tea & More, was on site for community members to purchase her homemade delicious beverages!

Over 80 community members attended the event. In addition to receiving information at each booth, patrons also came away with several freebies and giveaways from vendors. At the conclusion of the event, door prizes were drawn and awarded to five recipients; some of these door prizes included a fire extinguisher, medical lock boxes, and a blood pressure monitor.
